These men fired their guns during the continuance of their ride on Broad Street from Belvidere to Seventh Street, creating consternation to pedestrians upon the sidewalks and persons in vehicles on the street. Upon the arrival of one of the cars at Seventh and Broad streets, Officer Thurman, assisted by Officer Duffy, attempted to place one of the offenders under arrest, but the offender, who was the command of one of the regiment officers. At the armory these officers still insisted that the man should not be placed under arrest, and Officer Thurman allowed him to depart for home. Informing him, however, that he would later swear out a warrant for his arrest.

The action of the regiment officers in this matter will, in my judgment, tend to cause friction between the police and this military organization upon future occasions.

Respectfully,
(Signed) LOUIS WERNER,
Chief of Police.

September 6, 1910.
Major Lawrence T. Price, Commanding First Battalion, First Regiment Infantry, Virginia Volunteers:
Dear Sir:—I enclose copy of a letter received by me from the Chief of Police this morning, calling my attention to the disorderly and unlawful conduct of some of the members of the First Battalion, First Regiment Infantry, Virginia Volunteers, on yesterday evening, the 5th instant, on their return from the grounds of the Virginia State Fair Association. I am informed that these men were under the command of their respective officers at the time of the commission of the offenses complained of, and are, therefore, subject to military discipline and punishment. I have directed the punishment to which they may be liable under the laws of the State of Virginia.

I deem it my duty to bring this alleged infraction of our laws to your attention that such action may be taken in the premises as may be proper. The police force of the city of Richmond will assist you in any manner to identify the particular persons who were guilty of these disturbances.

Yours very truly,
D. C. RICHARDSON, Mayor.

WANT GRANDJURY TO PROBE FRAUD

Maynard Mass-Meeting in Portsmouth Adopts Sweeping Resolutions.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Norfolk, Va., September 6.—Portsmouth Democrats, in a monster mass-meeting to-night, went into open revolt against "machine politics" in the Second District of Virginia, roared defiance at the district committee for not probing the fraud charges in the recent congressional primary, denounced political conditions in Norfolk city and Norfolk county, and called upon Congressmen Harry L. Maynard to request the State Democratic Central Committee to investigate the recent primary. But this was not all, for the meeting, amidst cheering, adopted a resolution calling upon the judges of the Norfolk Corporation Court, at Norfolk, to request the County Court to instruct the next grand jury to investigate the reports of corruption and fraud in the recent primary election.

Not in the history of the Democratic party in this section for many years has such a meeting been held to protest against the verdict of the party machinery. The meeting was the first of a series to be held throughout the Second District to protest against the action of the district committee in not investigating the charges of fraud. Between 700 and 1,000 persons were present. Mayor J. Davis Reed, of Portsmouth, presided.

Call It "Primary Outrage."
Judge James F. Crocker, aged eighty-two years, a venerable and beloved Democrat, and Judge Legh E. Watts, a Democrat of State-wide prominence, and a friend of Senator Martin and an organization "sympathizer" with the speakers. On the platform in the courthouse yard sat the best citizens of Portsmouth. Around the speakers' stand were a sea of faces, and when it was said, seldom take part in political contests.

Old citizens of Portsmouth, after the meeting, declared they never had known an instance when the city was aroused as it is at present over what the speakers called the "primary outrage." The meeting, aroused to white heat, came near openly bolting the primary and calling upon Maynard to resign as an independent. John L. Watson offered a resolution setting forth charges of primary frauds, which in substance stated that Portsmouth would bolt the district committee did not investigate to the very depths of the primary scandal. This resolution was withdrawn after speeches of H. Davis, Judge Watson and Judge Crocker, who thought the State Committee should be given a chance to weigh the case before a deliberate vote was made. As a result of the meeting, which was one of Congressmen Maynard's friends, it is clear now that he will appeal to the State Committee.

TAX SALE ATTACKED
Writ of Error Allowed in Ejectment Suit by Supreme Court.
Argument setting aside the illegality of a delinquent tax sale made by the case of T. H. Dickinson, sheriff of Prince Edward county, and as such administrator of J. M. Coley deceased, Harriett Spriggs, Thomas Payne and Minnie Payne, against John D. Jameson. Jameson is purchaser under the tax deed, and is resisting an action for ejectment, which he won in the lower court. A writ of error from this decision was allowed in the Supreme Court yesterday.

The suit involves 439-1-2 acres of land in Buckingham county, which belonged to J. M. Coley, colored man. The latter died in 1888, leaving the land and a will. His widow did not sell the property and divide it, as directed by the will, but died herself instead.

Later the land was sold for delinquent taxes. It is alleged in the petition of a writ of error, that the property was improperly assessed, that an illegal adjournment took place at the delinquent tax sale, and that the tax deed is invalid on its face.

AGAIN ADVOCATES NEW NATIONALISM

Roosevelt Clearly Sets Forth Doctrine Recently Enunciated.

AGAINST STATES' RIGHTS

He Declares for Government Control of Natural Resources.

St. Paul, Minn., September 6.—The doctrine of "new nationalism," which ex-President Roosevelt enunciated in his speech at Oswatimie, Kan., last week, was set forth still more clearly by him in his speech to-day before the National Conservation Congress here. He declared for government control of the country's natural resources, and in so doing placed himself directly against the advocates of "States' rights," whose opposition to the principles which he laid down furnished the liveliest debates of the conservation changes.

If it had not been for corporate interests, especially those which are described as predatory, we would never have heard of this 'question of States' rights,' he declared. And later, he said: "It is not really a question of States' rights. It is really a question of special corporate interests against the people." He said the corporations were anxious to have the States take up the work that they might escape all effective control.

The outburst of applause which greeted Colonel Roosevelt as he spoke in the Auditorium was as long and loud as any he has heard during his Western trip. Minneapolis and St. Paul dropped work for the day, and turned out to see the colonel. School children with hundreds of flags waved them as he rode by. Bands were played and banners were everywhere. When Colonel Roosevelt arrived at the Capitol, the presidential salute of twenty-one guns was given for him.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived in Minneapolis at 7 o'clock this morning. After breakfast, he came by automobile to St. Paul, made his speech at the Conservation Congress, had luncheon, and then went to the State Fair Grounds, where he addressed the largest crowd of the day.

Returning to St. Paul, he went to the home of Frank B. Kellogg for a rest, and then attended a dinner given by Colonel Alexander D. Brode, of the Rough Riders. He left to-night for Milwaukee, where he is to spend tomorrow.

Emphasizes New Policy.
Colonel Roosevelt made a number of additions to the speech which he had prepared for the Conservation Congress. Most of his interpolations were made to emphasize his stand for "new nationalism."

In speaking of the Federal control of corporations, he said: "In addition to the fact that the Federal government is better able to exact justice from the corporations, I also believe it is less apt in some cases of popular passion to do injustice to them."

"I should like to see the people, through the national government, get full justice to the corporations," he said elsewhere. "But I do not want the national government to depend only upon the good will of the corporations to get justice for the people."

He urged the speedy development of waterways, especially those between the Great Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico, but sounded a warning against letting the railroads get control of these developed waterways.

"I believe," said the colonel, "that the railroads should be prohibited from owning, controlling or carrying an interest in the lines of steam navigation under the strictest regulation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, so that the shippers' interests may be fully protected."

"You people must not sit idly by and let the railroads gain control of the boat lines, and then say that the men at the head of the railroads are very bad people. If you leave it to them to get control of the boat lines, some of them are to do it, and the best and ablest among them should do it. But do not let any of them do it except under the conditions which we lay down. In other words, when you of your own will permit the rules of the game to be such that you are able to get the game to the worst of it at the hands of some one else, don't blame the other men."

"Change the rules of the game," the colonel advocated drainage of swamp and overflow lands, chiefly through the activity of the Federal government. He demanded the work done to establish national forests, and recommended the establishment of a Federal Bureau of Health. When he came to speak of the National Conservation Commission he made what was interpreted here as a sharp thrust at Congressman James A. Tawney.

John S. Harris, colored, was arrested last night on a charge of fraudulently obtaining credit from Louis Corrier to the extent of $22.50. Harris is alleged to have given Corrier a check for the amount, on the American National Bank, which he had found afterwards, it is alleged, he had no deposit.

"A Toothsome Flavour"

True for you, there's a treat in the crisp, nutty, delicate sweet taste of Grape-Nuts served with cream or milk.

(Don't spoil the food by trying to cook it. That work is done, and perfectly done, at the factories.)

The cream should soften it a bit, but not enough to excuse the teeth from at least a few good earnest 'chews.' Dame Nature sends rich blessings to the child who chews. Of course the one with weak teeth can soften the food with milk down to a mush if necessary, but the good old Dame doesn't smile quite so cheerfully on them.

You know, children and adults must use the teeth and grind freely to make them grow strong and to preserve them. Then the act of chewing brings down the much needed saliva from the gums, and that helps amazingly in the digestion of foods of various kinds.

The saliva is not so much required with Grape-Nuts, for this food is partially pre-digested, that is, the starch turned into a form of sugar in the process of making, and that helps give it the fascinating flavour.

Grape-Nuts people are healthy and enjoy good things. "There's a Reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in page, "There's a Reason."

Petition for Franchise.
Mr. Davis offered the petition of the Richmond Power Corporation, made through Attorney Miles M. Martin, for a franchise permitting the company to put up in the city, poles, wires and subways for the transmission of electric current, from the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, in Chesterfield. This was referred to the Committee on Streets.

A resolution empowering the Board of Police Commissioners to regulate street traffic offered by Mr. Lynch was referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. Lynch also asked for $25,000 for oiling streets.

Councilman Jones, of Washington Ward, introduced a resolution providing for plans for a new bridge on the site of the old Mayo's Bridge to cost $350,000. It was sent to the Committee on Streets. He also tried to have the Council act upon the question of restricting the schools under a suspension of the rules. Mr. Lynch objected, saying that the lines were not required. The required two-thirds vote was not forthcoming, so the matter was referred to the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform.

To Pay Judgment.
On motion of Mr. Pollard, Council authorized the payment of a judgment against the city of $800 in favor of L. Virginia Bland, who was injured in the spring by falling over a defective meter box. The case was tried in the Law and Equity Court. City Attorney Pollard wrote the Council a letter in regard to the case, saying that it was such a palpable case of negligence that he could make but little defense for the city after the jury was shown the state of the box.

He advised the Council that similar accidents be averted in future.

BILLS IN DEEP WATER

Shut-Eyed Negro and Companion Face More Than Dozen Burglary Charges.

Bill Perry and Bill Stewart, the two negroes who were arrested last night by Detective Sergeants Wren and Wiltshire, are in still deeper trouble, for they face a dozen or more warrants returned against them with housebreaking and larceny.

These two men are believed to be the burglars who have been giving the police much trouble in plying the trade of burglary. Innumerable reports were received during a period covering the last two months, nearly every report being that some one's house had been entered and robbed. The case began to look hopeless, when the detectives were told that a shut-eyed negro was doing a deal of pawn-broking, and after a long search, they found the negro with the evil eye.

Forty pawn tickets were discovered on their persons, and their homes were strewn with jewelry believed to have been stolen. The first of the cases comes up on September 10.

SHOT BROTHER-IN-LAW

L. A. Jackson Lays Serious Charge Against William Finnegan.

Charging William Finnegan with a serious offense, L. A. Jackson early yesterday morning went to Finnegan's home, 1419 East Main Street, and called him to the door, fired on him with a shotgun, the shot taking effect in the victim's legs. The two men are in the city jail, where after he had been arrested, refused to talk of the affair, and Finnegan could not be seen.

Finnegan is not a doctor, but he was taken to the City Hospital, where he was said to have been shot. Jackson was taken to the City Jail. The preliminary hearing will be held in Police Court on September 17.

HENRY STUART GETS SLEMP'S AUDIENCE

Both Candidates Speak at Lebanon 'Democracy Carrying the Honors.'

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Lebanon, Va., September 6.—The people of Russell county paid a great tribute to their distinguished fellow-citizen, Henry Carter Stuart, to-day, and gave unmistakable evidence of his immense popularity and of the now foregone conclusion that he will carry the county by a large majority in November. Both Stuart and Slemp were held to-day, and the friends of the latter made a Herculean effort to affect the great Stuart demonstration that they knew was coming, but when the crowds showed up Stuart had the audience about 5 to 1.

Although the Democrats had the courthouse, the crowd that wanted to hear Stuart, and that had come from every nook and corner of the county for that purpose, was so large that the building would not hold one-sixth of it, so they repaired to the college grove, where, under the shade of the maples, Mr. Stuart dealt sledge-hammer blows to Republicanism and Cannonism and Slempism, while the great crowd cheered him to the echo.

Fully 3,000 people heard him through his entire speech, and the enthusiasm after Mr. Stuart had spoken, R. T. Irvine spoke for an hour, making an unusually fine and logical address, after which dinner was spread for the crowd on the grounds. In the afternoon Attorney-General Williams addressed the crowd for an hour and a half, making one of his usual strong addresses.

This was in truth a field day for Democracy in this county, and one that will be memorable in the history of the county.
